MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

A Decidedly Bullish Feeting and a Large Amount of Business at the Opening. NEW YORK, Nov. 24.-Money on call was easy at 2 per cent, closing offered at 11.

Prime mercantile paper, 41 @61 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull, but steady at $4.842 for sixty-day bills and $4.88 for demand. The total sales of stocks to-day were 249,477 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 12,600: Lake Shore, 29,195; Missouri Pacific, 13,189; Northwestern, 13,050; Norfolk & Western preferred, 2,800; Northern Pacific preferred, 8,750; Oregon Transcontinental, 4,800: Reading, 31,230; Richmond & West Point, 12,100; St. Paul, 22,825; Texas Pacitie, 3,700; Union Pacific, 30,085; Western Union,

The preliminary agreement reached yesterday. which practically ends the Southwestern ratewar, was the occasion of an unusually strong opening this morning, the temper of the room being decidedly "bullish," with considerable foreign buying. There was considerable excitement, and the business done in the first balf hour was as much as has been done in many a full day's business, and first prices were from to ? per cent. higher than last evening's figures. which was followed by further advances of small fractions in the early trading. Wheeling & Lake Erie showed marked strength and moved up over a point, while the advances in the rest of the list were confined to small fractions only. Free realizations became noticeable, however, and heavy selling of New England knocked the price of that stock off rapidly and encouraged a further attack by the "bears," and the market quickly retired to below the opening figures, Western Union and Lackswanna being also conspicuously weak. Lake Shore then became the strong feature, and prices on the general list gravitated back to the level of opening figures. New England, however, con tinued to yield, and it was not until toward the close that any improvement was made in the stock. Richmond & West Point later dropped materially, for no apparent cause, but the general market closed fairly active and steady to firm at the irregular changes for the day, which were about equally divided between gains and losses of portions only. New England, however, is down 2 and Richmond & West Point, 14.

Railroad bonds were fairly active, but on a business of $600,000, failed to develop any feature whatever. There was no apparent movement in either direction.

ern, 91 @101c. CHICAGO, Nov. 24.-Again the wheat market has shown decided weakness and prices declined to below the lowest point reached early in the week. Trading was fairly active. "Short" sellers evidently again took courage at the weakness developed during the closing hour of the session yesterday, and there was an in-creased desire to sall. The decline, too, brought out some wheat bought on the recent bulge. The opening was Ic below the closing figures on Change yesterday, from which prices reacted 1 @ 2c. then began to weaken, and declined 2c. At this juncture the demand improved, with some covering by "shorts," which prevented a further decline, and a slight recovery from inside figares. The market held steady for a while and then started upward, advancing le above the inside figures, ruled easier, and closed c lower than yesterday. The weakness that was developed late in corn, yesterday, was con-tinued again to-day. The volume of trading was only moderate and mainly in the early part of the day, after which the market raled quiet and weak. The temper of the local crowd was "bearish," and offerings were liberal, while little or no demand existed outside of the covering of a few "shorts" on the decline. The weakening feature is the larger movement in this direction. Opening sales were a shade below the closing prices of yesterday, after which the market de-clined ic, ruled steady, and closed ic lower for December and about lie for November lower ber of outside buying orders were received. A large local operator, who was credited with being "short," also bought freely. A vanced toto. "Longs" began selling freely on the advance, buyers were soon filled up, and a decline of #c on May resulted. A rally of to followed the break. Later the market became quiet and easier, offerings increased and prices declined to from outside figures and closed weak at inside prices. Only a moderate trade was reported in mess pork, and the feeling was somewhat unsettled. Early sales were made at 5c advance, but this was quickly lost. Later the market showed more strength and prices advanced 10 @ 12½c. Near the close prices settled back again 5 @ 7½c, and the market closed quiet. The lard market attracted very little attention and trading was moderate. The feeling was stronger and prices ruled .021 @.05c higher, and the appreciation was fairly well supported. A fair trade was reported in short-ribs, and the feeling was steady. Early in the day prices were advanced .02½ @ .05c, but this improvement than yesterday. In oats during the first hour

the market was fairly active. A liberal num-

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS.

A Week of Fair Weather Greatly Improves Trade-Fluctuations in Values Few.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24. A few days of fair weather has acted as a stimulant to business. The wholesale mer have had a very good week's trade, and the strike has not, as yet, been seriously felt. In prices there were few fluctuations. Coffees, roasted grades, are to higher than a week ago, and sugars about to higher in the East, but unchanged here. Foreign fruits are meeting with a very liberal sale with the approach of the holidays, and spices are moving quite freely. Molasses is selling better, while syrups move sluggishly. Teae, East, are a little off but quotably unchanged on the better grades. In the produce markets trade showed a decided improvement over any preceding week of this month. Receipts of poultry for some days past have been unpredentedly large, and the break in prices of Thursday is still unfavorably affecting the market. Eggs are firm, the supply falling below the demand, and the same is true of butter, if a choice article is wanted. Receipts of apples have dropped off, and with this they carry an improved tone, but prices have not been advanced as yet. Potatoes are in fair supply and prices range as for some time past. Dealers in fancy notions and confeccome near. Dry goods men had a good trade, but November sales will not reach the volume of those of October. Druggists report their trade, which has been rather quiet of late, as improving during last week. Iron-dealers are having a good trade and prices rule firm, and with the bardware men business begins to take on a winter volume, although their sales for the month thus far are ahead of those of last year. The leather men are experiencing a fair trade. On the grades of leather where a weak tone in price prevailed a few weeks ago a firmer tone is noticeable. The wool market continues to improve daily and better prices are obtainable on all grades in the Eastern markets.

There was a small attendance on 'Change today, and the bidding was slow.

Receipts of wheat to-day were three cars. From the Kansas City Farmer. Good horses are often spoiled by being worked too young. It is well enough to commence handling them very young. Halter them, and teach them to lead well; accustom them to be handled; bridle and teach them to be driven, to stop and to start. This can be done without putting them to hard work. They can also be broke to ride earlier than to drive, and they may be accustomed to drawing in a light wagon at two years old, but they should not be ridden or driven hard or compelled to go a long distance. Whatever is done should be commenced on a light scale, and then be gradually increased as may be necessary or beneficial. Of course. something depends upon the development, but, in a majority of cases, the colts are worked too hard at first. The majority of colts are not fully matured until past four years old, and sometimes they will grow more or less until they are five. Some work and exercise is necessary to properly develop them, but if overdone will stunt rather than develop. By handling carefully, breaking to ride and to do light work, gradually increasing as they get older, they can often be able to do considerable work by the time they are three years old, and then their work can be gradually increased, taking care not to overload or to overdrive; the work may be made a benefit rather than an injury. Some coits mature more rapidly than others. The feed and care given has much to do with this, but if the best growth and development is secured good care must be taken not only in the amount of work done, but also in the manner of doing it. The larger per cent. of balky horses can be traced to overloading or to ill-fitting collars or harness.

Stunted and ill-formed colts are due to too much hard work when young fully as much as to stinting their feed. Much can be done in securing a good gait by proper training, walking with a good-walking, steady horse, in preference to a slow walker, as well as an unreliable one. No rule can be given as to the best time to break a colt to ride or work, and how soon afterwards they can be put to hard work. The natural growth and development must always be considered, and this will vary greatly. By commencing early and then increasing very gradually, an average colt ought to be able to do considerable light work. When past three years old, and from this time until fully matured, he ought to do sufficient work to pay well for his feed, while his growth and consequent increase in value should be largely profit. If raised for market as a rule when they are past four years old, and until they are at least five, they will usually sell at the highest prices and they should then be ready for market. A colt, in order to be at his best, should never stop growing, from the time he is foaled until he is fully matured. Supply them with plenty of food and take pains not to overwork, and this can be easily secured.

F. D. Curtis thinks there is no longer money in feeding steers for beef in New York State. The only foundation for beef-making is in growing light beeves for the country butchers. He believes that Short-horn and Hereford blood are the best adapted for beef-making, and in order to make this business pay the best males of these breeds should be introduced into localities adapted to rasing cattle, and the business gone into with all of the conditions and surroundings which would tend to advance the industry.
